

“To be earth's most customer centric company; to build a place where people can come to find and discover anything they might want to buy online.”