

Question 1

1. A neuropsychological assessment is most likely to be used in which of the following situations?
 - a. In diagnosing a student for a learning disability
 - b. For a client who may have suffered a traumatic brain injury
 - c. In assessing a student for a gifted program
 - d. In assessing a patient recently diagnosed with schizophrenia
 - e. All of these are potential situations.

1 points

Question 2

1. Match the law or act with the most appropriate description.
- 2.

Asserts that any test used for employment or promotion must be shown to be suitable and valid for the job in question. D

Upheld the right that licensed professionals would not need to reveal information in their case notes. F