

ENG-105 Peer Review Worksheet: Commentary

Part of your responsibility as a student in this course is to provide quality feedback to your peers that will help them to improve their writing skills. This worksheet will assist you in providing that feedback. To highlight the text and type over the information in the boxes on this worksheet, double-click on the first word.

Name of the draft's author: [REDACTED]

Name of the peer reviewer: [REDACTED]

Reviewer

After reading through the draft one time, write a summary (3-5 sentences) of the paper that includes your assessment of how well the essay meets the assignment requirements as specified in the syllabus and the rubric.

The prevalence of Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) in adults is on the rise, with an increasing number of diagnoses in recent years. This shift in perception and diagnosis can be attributed to changing beliefs about ADHD persisting into adulthood. While it was once thought to be primarily a childhood disorder, studies now show that ADHD can continue into adulthood. This change in awareness and understanding has contributed to the higher numbers of diagnosed adults.

After a second, closer reading of the draft, answer each of the following questions. Positive answers will give you specific elements of the draft to praise; negative answers will indicate areas in need of improvement and revision. Please be sure to indicate at least three positive aspects of the draft and at least three areas for improvement in reply to the questions at the bottom of this worksheet.

Commentary Content and Ideas

- How effectively does the thesis statement identify the main points that the writer would like to make in this commentary?

The thesis statement effectively identifies the main points that the writer intends to address in this commentary. It highlights the rise of ADHD diagnoses in adults, changes in perception, the role of stigma, and the potential benefits and concerns associated with this trend.

- How descriptive is the writer's choice of a label to name the issue in question?
The writer's choice of the label "Attention-deficit/Hyperactivity disorder in Adults" is descriptive and apt. It clearly communicates the focus of the essay, which is on ADHD in adults, and sets the tone for the discussion.
- How effectively does the writer frame an issue at the beginning of the essay?
The writer effectively frames the issue at the beginning of the essay by providing a brief history of ADHD perception and highlighting the significant increase in adult ADHD diagnoses. This establishes the context and importance of the topic.
- How effective is the writer's analysis of the issue in terms of causes and consequences?