I have chosen a picture of women breastfeeding their babies in a dirty public bathroom. I am a breastfeeding mother. Breastfeeding in public still has a huge stigma around it. This picture will affect both breastfeeding mothers and people that may be around breastfeeding mothers. It should be unacceptable to ask a woman to cover up their feeding baby or ask a mother to go to a dirty bathroom to feed their child. A mother should be able to feed their child whenever and wherever they need it.

Purpose/Thesis

Imagine being out with your infant enjoying a nice meal and the baby starts to cry. A little panic set in because you know the only way to calm the baby down is to place your baby on your nipple so they can feed. Instead of sitting and enjoying your meal while your baby eats you must excuse yourself to go to a dirty bathroom to sit on a toilet with your pants on and feed your child. This is because you fear that the moment your child starts eating someone will say something nasty to you or stare at you. Breastfeeding is so natural and amazingly healthy for a baby. However, since breast are so over sexualized it is not okay to do in public. We are not feeding our children to be sexy. We are feeding our children this way because it is natural, healthy, and so much cheaper. If someone dose not like what we are doing, they then don't have to look at it.
