

Module 2 Coding Lab Quiz (Graded)

Question 1

2 / 2 pts

A 22-year-old female patient was seen in the ED with complaints of diarrhea and lower abdominal pain. After examination, the patient was diagnosed with viral gastroenteritis. What diagnosis code(s) would be reported for this encounter?

A08.4

Correct!

Correct Answers A08.4

Question 2

2 / 2 pts

Mr. Jones has been traveling out of the country, and when he returned home was hospitalized due to a number of symptoms. At discharge it was determined that he has Mediterranean tick fever.

What diagnosis code(s) is assigned for this encounter?

A77.1

Correct!

Correct Answers A77.1

Question 3

2 / 2 pts John has been sick for a week with a cough, chest pain and difficulty breathing. After tests were performed it was determined John has pneumonia due to Pneumocystis carinii. John must remain hospitalized for a week with IV Bactrim before discharge with a prescription for oral Bactrim. What diagnosis code(s) would be reported for this encounter?

B59