Module 4 Application Test

Week 4 Application Test

The patient is referred to an ophthalmologist by the ED physician for an examination of an old injury to his right eye. The ophthalmologist determines there is a piece of magnetic iron metal retained in the posterior wall within his right eye. The ophthalmologist documents concern for an infection

One code submitted is H44.641. What is the other ICD-10-CM code that would be submitted? Per the given scenario, one code submitted is H44.641. What is the other ICD-10-CM code that would be submitted for the piece of metal retained in the eye? Correct answer 1 - Z18.11 Correct A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported? A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
the other ICD-10-CM code that would be submitted for the piece of metal retained in the eye? Correct answer 1 - Z18.11 Correct A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported? A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
the other ICD-10-CM code that would be submitted for the piece of metal retained in the eye? Correct answer 1 - Z18.11 Correct A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported? A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
Correct A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported? A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported? A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported? A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported? A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
A 58-year-old male patient presents to the ED with severe chest pain. He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
He is diagnosed with a first episode of an acute myocardial infarction. What ICD-10-CM code is reported?
5
C 121.9
Correct
© I21.9, R07.9
[©] R07.9, I21.9
© R07.9
When coding the phrase "bilateral multiple perforations of the tympanic membrane" the main term to reference in the alphabetic index is .
Correct answer 1 - perforation
A 6-month-old female infant presents to the pediatrician's office for ear pulling and excessive crying. The infant is diagnosed with bilateral