

Week 8 Reflection on Achievement of Outcomes

Berwick, D., Snair, M., & Nishtar, S. (2018). Crossing the global health care quality chasm: A key component of universal health coverage. Journal of American Medical Association, 320(13), 1317-1318.

Read the Berwick article and reflect on the concepts and practices you have learned in NR506 on healthcare systems, politics, and health policy. Reflections should include:

1. How to make informed decisions on nursing practice and patient outcomes on a global basis. In addition, state how you will apply what you have learned in this course to your upcoming practicum experience.
2. Describe how one will apply content from NR506NP to the upcoming clinical courses.

Answer:

Decisions that are made on a small scale impact decision that are to be applied on a larger, or global scale (Berwick et al., 2018). For informed decisions to be made in nursing practice, one needs proper education and accreditation to make sure everyone is learning at a set standard (Berwick et al., 2018). Quality of care depends on each and every healthcare member being held to a standard (Berwick et al., 2018). Although access to care is important and is sometimes the issue in many parts of the U.S. and many other countries, quality of care is equally important (Berwick et al., 2018). For the quality of care to be measured, it has to be documented and reported properly (Berwick et al., 2018). Being that all over the world there is such inconsistency with policies and laws, there is also inconsistent reporting (Berwick et al., 2018). For example, if an Advanced Practice Registered Nurse is working under a Physician and cannot get reimbursed
