

WEEK 3: RESOURCE UTILIZATION

Managing resources and schedule compression can be an interesting and sometimes difficult job.

- How have you managed resources on any of your projects? What do you find as the most difficult part?
- How do you compress the schedule of your project?

You are to submit three quality posts over 3 different days, with the first post on or before Wednesday for each graded discussion topic.

Answer:

1. Good Morning Dr. Jay,

I too can't say that I have been in charge of a project on the job professionally, at least in the academic sense of the word. I do however have some experience deliverables such as managing resources and compressing schedules for a particular task. I manage resources everyday however with regards to the uniforms and the my guards are mandated to wear during their regular shift. The uniforms themselves present a particularly difficult equation in that the procurement team is an informal mechanism and often fails to deliver on the proper uniforms. The PPE procurement
